THE PRINCETON LEADER

Princeton, Caldwell County, Kentucky, Thursday, July 20, 1950

Number 3

Frank Wylie Rites Held At Residence Wednesday At 2:30

dominant Business Leader And Former Postmaster Retired Here January 1946.

Funeral services for Frank K. Wylie, 74, retired businessman and former postmaster here, were conducted from the family residence, 301 Washington street, at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, with Dr. G. Hummel, Hopkinsville, and Rev. J. F. Callender, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiating. Burial was in the family lot at Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Member of a prominent family of the county, Mr. Wylie was born at the Wylie homestead one mile north of Princeton on the John Springs road, the son of late John Jefferson and Virginia Borden Wylie. With the exception of about six years in Louisville he spent his entire life in Caldwell county. He died at his home late Monday afternoon following an illness of several weeks.

Early in life, Mr. Wylie started a business career in the store of the late W. O. Pickering and January 1, 1899, he entered a drug business with the late R. Kevill. He was later associated with the late Ed Johnson, John Walker, and R. G. McClelland in the drug business here. He also operated a drug store in Louisville from 1926 to 1933.

During World War I and the administration of President Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Wylie was appointed postmaster at Princeton and served for a number of years. After returning from Madisonville he was associated with R. G. McClelland until 1945 when he bought McClelland's interest, which he later sold to E. L. Williamson. He retired on January 1, 1946.

Mr. Wylie was a devoted member of the Ogden Memorial Methodist Church and held a number of official positions in the church until ill health forced him to retire. He was a charter member of Elks Lodge No. 1115. Survivors are the wife, Mrs. Louise Wylie; two sons, Knox and Marvin, both of New Albany, Indiana, and three grandchildren. Pallbearers were Dawson Nichols, Clifton Hollowell, Frank Gordon, E. L. Williamson, Clifton W. Dawson, Arch Walker, D. Wylie and Edwin Lamb.

Two Youths Injured In Car Wreck Improving

Jerry P'Pool, 17, and Jerry Bronson, 21, both of whom received serious injuries in an automobile accident near here Saturday night, July 8, were reported greatly improved Wednesday. P'Pool received a skull fracture and brain concussion but was able to be removed to the home of his parents on Hopkinsville road last Thursday. His condition was reported satisfactory by members of the family.

Jerry Bronson suffered a badly lacerated and crushed right hand but was released from the hospital Tuesday and is improving satisfactorily, it was stated.

QUESTION
Civic leaders of Princeton and the county are planning a county-wide Chamber of Commerce. What is your opinion of such an organization and what are the principal benefits you think may be accomplished by it?

ANSWERS
Hewlett Morgan: "I am greatly in favor of the idea. We need an organization where the people of the county and the merchants of Princeton can get together to promote the general welfare of the entire county. Since there is no county-wide organization of this type I think a Chamber of Commerce would be of great aid in binding the interests of all the people and in securing much needed industry in the county."

Clifton Hollowell: "A great deal of good can be accomplished by formation of an organization to secure the cooperation of every organization in the town and county at the same time and working for the mutual benefit of the county. The Farm Bureau, Homemakers Clubs and clubs at Princeton can join with the many civic clubs of Princeton and do a great deal for the good of the entire county."

Dr. Elwood Cook: "A Chamber of Commerce should definitely be an asset to Caldwell county. It is strong and active. Bringing more industry to Princeton would probably be its major objective."

Youth Loses Foot In Accident Here

Gary Smiley, 5, Was Attempting To Catch Freight Car Saturday

The condition of Gary Smiley, five-year-old son of Mrs. Vera Smiley, who lost his left foot in an accident on the Illinois Central railroad here Saturday morning, was reported improved by Illinois Central officials Wednesday.

The child, who lives on Varmint Trace road, was playing on the I. C. tracks near the livestock yards with a sister a few years older and attempted to catch a car on a moving freight train as it was entering Princeton Yards. The sister attempted to stop the child from catching the train, but was unable to do so and he caught the strap on a car about 50 cars behind the engine and 12 cars ahead of the caboose he was thrown under the wheel of the car and his left foot was cut off above the ankle, reports from officials of the railroad stated. The accident occurred about 9:15 a.m.

The youth was carried to the Princeton Hospital for emergency treatment and later moved to the Illinois Central Hospital in Paducah. He sustained a number of bruises and other injuries as he was dragged by the train.

City, State Police Catch Bootlegger

Chase Through City's Streets Also Nets 15 Gallons "Golden Pond"

After a chase through the main streets of Princeton with sirens waiting on city and state police cars shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night, H. R. Higgins of Golden Pond was arrested and 15 gallons of moonshine whiskey were seized, officers reported.

The chase started mildly enough when City Patrolmen Urey Darnell and Albert Hagan signaled for the driver of the car to stop after running a stop sign in the Bartlettville section of town. When the car failed to stop the officers took up the chase, forcing the car to the sidewalk on West Main street just past the home of E. B. Vinson. As the police car passed, Higgins swerved his car around in the street only to find that State Police Marvin Darnell had the street blocked.

Still not discouraged in his effort to escape, Higgins is reported to have driven across the yard at Vinson's home and headed for town again. Officers in both cars then chased the automobile driven by Higgins through Main street, reaching top speed in some places before he was again forced to the curb in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otho Towery on Hopkinsville street.

Higgins was charged with illegal possession of untaxed liquor and turned over to Federal authorities in Paducah, officers here stated. Carl Jones, a riding passenger in the Higgins' car, was not arrested and no charges were placed against him.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Luttrell, Ft. Myers, Florida, were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude B. Wood at Lynwood Farms recently.

C. M. Wood, Jr., To Be Buried With Three Of Crew In Louisville

The bodies of Lieutenant Commander C. M. Wood, Jr., and the three members of his crew who were shot down with him in the Pacific on March 22, 1945, will be interred in Zachary Taylor National Cemetery in Louisville, with final ceremonies expected to be conducted the latter part of August or in early September, according to word received from his mother, Mrs. C. M. Wood, of Louisville, this week.

In a letter to The Leader, Mrs. Wood said, "Nothing would please the loved ones of C. M., Jr., better than to have his final resting place at Princeton but that is impossible. Individual identification cannot be established between the remains of C. M., Jr., and three of the members of his crew." Since bodies which cannot be personally identified are buried in a national shrine, Commander Wood will be buried at Louisville, according to Mrs. Wood.

Rotarians Hear Report On Chamber Of Commerce

Appointment of committees for the coming year comprised the program of the local Rotary Club at the organization's regular weekly meeting Tuesday night at the First Christian Church.

Also at the meeting, President Julian Littlepage gave a report on the recent District Rotary meeting held at Bowling Green. Sam Steger, vice-president, in a report on the project to form a Caldwell County Chamber of Commerce, announced that another meeting of the different chamber of commerce committees will be held August 1 when the organization of a County Chamber of Commerce is expected to be officially formed.

Guests at meeting included Mildard R. Maxey, assistant county agent; Ben Tinsley, Owensboro; Mack Sisk, Niles Dillingham, Jack Rodey and R. A. Belt, Dawson Springs, and Julian Ratliff and Mr. McChesney.

Mrs. I. J. Harris, Marion road, was called away last week by the death of her father, Mr. Tom Downey, 84, of Leitchfield. Mr. Downey had been sick for some time.

War Boosts Car Sales, Foods And Supplies Here

Spurred on by the current Korean situation and the memory of automobile shortages during the recent World War, residents of the county have about depleted the stock of new cars on all dealers floors in the city, and some orders have been placed for future deliveries at the earliest possible date, a check with local car dealers revealed this week.

While no notice of curtailed supply has been received most dealers report a decrease in the number of cars received in the past three weeks. Some decrease in the demand for better used cars is also reported.

Meanwhile grocers report that the sale of sugar, lard and a few other items which soared for a few days has leveled off and while sales are heavy, no evidence of hoarding is found among the great majority of customers. "Coming at the time of year when sugar is in heavy demand for canning and preserving purposes, naturally many families have bought an additional 100 pounds to assure a supply for the season," one leading merchant said.

The demand for additional supplies of lard is augmented by the increase in prices of hogs and prices have advanced because of the increase in the hog market, rather than the scarcity, grocers report.

A marked increase in the price of many items has been shown in the past few days, particularly in items which were scarce during the recent World War. Many food items have advanced as much as ten per cent and local grocers estimate that an approximate seven per cent increase has been placed on a majority of items. One large cannery has stopped sale of its products and does not quote current prices at the present, it was stated.

A few of the items which have increased most are meats of all kinds, lard and fats, syrup, sugar, cocoa, coffee and black pepper.

Several stores reported a heavy run on sheets, domestic and similar merchandise here. "Stocks are ample and there is no reason for the public becoming panicky. The people who have traded with home merchants will find plenty of necessary merchandise," one leading merchant said.

A few instances of out-of-town buyers stocking up on nylon hose and a few other items was reported. Since stocks were plentiful the business was acceptable, the merchant said.

Princeton-Fryer Road To Be Completed Soon

The State Highway Department will start work on construction of a portion of the Princeton-Fryer road, which will connect the gap between Princeton and Madisonville on the road this week, Judge William G. Pickering announced.

Starting at the junction with KY 70 and extending in an easterly direction 1.031 miles, the road will extend to the Wilson Warehouse bridge across Tradewater river.

Local Nine Smothers Fredonia 10-1 Sunday; Play Also Here July 23

Sparked by three hits by Lowell Hobby and backed by the one-hit pitching of Mac Nelson, the VFW ball team defeated the Fredonia nine 10 to 1 at Fredonia Sunday afternoon.

Princeton chalked up 11 hits and committed four errors while Fredonia gathered only one hit and made six errors, with Fredonia's lone tally coming in the ninth inning. Princeton tallied two in the first, one in the second, three in the sixth, one in the seventh and three in the ninth to run their total to 10 runs.

The local team will play Almo Heights on the local diamond at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Almo has lost only one game this season and defeated the local team 9 to 8 earlier this season.

15 MORE DOGS TAGGED

Fifteen dog licenses have been sold in the county since last week, making a total of 60 residents who have purchased tags at this time, according to Sheriff G. J. Lewis.

It is estimated that there are at least 2,500 dogs in the county and livestock growers are sponsoring a program to enforce the dog law to provide funds for payment of livestock losses from marauding dogs.

Machen Rites At Graveside Friday

Elks, Rev. Loperfido To Officiate At Burial Of Retired Salesman

Funeral services for Frank Machen, 87, member of a pioneer family of this county, who died at the Elks Home in Bedford, Virginia, Wednesday night, July 12, will be conducted from the family lot in Cedar Hill Cemetery at 10:30 Friday morning.

Officers and members of Elks Lodge No. 1115, and the Rev. Floyd A. Loperfido, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, will officiate at the service. The body was cremated and the ashes returned to the Morgan Funeral Home Wednesday for interment. Mrs. Machen preceded his death a number of years.

Mr. Machen, a retired salesman and businessman, made his home at the Henrietta Hotel for many years. He was injured when struck by an automobile on the streets here on January 20 and after spending six weeks in the local hospital, spent some time in Paducah before entering the Elks Home in Bedford.

Survivors include Mrs. Lily M. Campbell and Mrs. T. A. Pedley, both of Denver, Colorado, and G. M. Pedley of this city, all of whom are cousins.

Legion And Auxiliary Officers At State Meet

Commander Fred Jake, Carlisle Orange Post, American Legion, Mrs. Hue C. Nuckols, president of the Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Kathleen S. Williamson, secretary, and Mrs. Ernest Childress, president of the First District Auxiliary, attended the State American Legion Convention in Louisville, Sunday through Wednesday.

Brady Stewart, Paducah, McCracken county judge and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for appellate judge in the First District, was a visitor in Princeton Monday. He is opposed by Judge Ira D. Smith of Hopkinsville for the nomination.

Big One Got Away!

G. Homer Brown and his fishing partner, N. B. Cameron, have returned from a trip to Florida where they did some deep sea fishing and as usual, "the big one got away." Brown says luck was good with the small salt water fish but N. B. hooked a shark which he was happy to see get away as he couldn't handle him on the tackle he was using and didn't know just what to do with him.

Voters Apathetic In Primary Here

Local Men In Race; Four Demos, Three GOP Men Seek Senate Seat

With the off-year primary only 17 days away, an attitude of apathy and almost total indifference is indicated by party leaders and rank-and-file voters in the county in connection with the intra-party races August 5.

No local offices are involved but four men are seeking the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. They are Governor Earle C. Clements of Morgantown, the Rev. James L. Delk of Hopkinsville, George Glenn Hatcher of Ashland, and Dennis E. McQueary of Lexington.

There are three candidates for the Republican nomination for senator. They are Charles I. Dawson of Louisville, former federal judge, James William Brown of Seneca Village, and Charles E. Whittle of Brownsville.

In the First District Brady Stewart, Paducah, county judge of McCracken county, opposes Judge Ira D. Smith of Hopkinsville for the Democratic nomination for office of appellate judge. Judge Smith is circuit judge serving Christian, Trigg, Lyon and Calloway counties at present.

Both candidates in the judge's race have been campaigning in the 18-county district but have been seen only occasionally in Caldwell. Counties in the district are Caldwell, Christian, Ballard, Calloway, Carlisle, Crittenden, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Hopkins, Livingston, Lyon, McCracken, Marshall, Muhlenberg, Trigg, Union and Webster.

Although Governor Clements is expected to win the Democratic nomination without a great amount of effort and with a comfortable margin political observers will watch the balloting with a great deal of interest to see the effect of the governor's stand on educational issues and the manner in which the last session of the legislature was directed by him and his close political advisers.

Judge Charles I. Dawson is the strong favorite to win the Republican nomination for senator.

Six Examined Today For Armed Forces; Six More Called July 28

Six men from Caldwell, Lyon and Crittenden counties were scheduled to leave here today for physical examinations at Owensboro and induction into the Armed Forces. Six more men from the three counties will be called for examination on Thursday, July 28, H. C. Averick, clerk of Draft Board No. 9, said.

Those to be examined today are James Elliott Mitchell, Cobb route 1; James Douglas Drake, Marion route 3; Cecil Junior Timmons, Eddyville route 1; Owen Jackson, Princeton route 2; J. C. Asbridge, Fredonia route 4, and Leslie Cash, Dalton route 1.

M-Sgt. W. D. Bowden, recruiting officer for the Army and Air Force, reports that there is no increase in the enlistments because of the Korean situation and there is no change in the regulations for regular enlistment.

Vets Entertained By Rotary Minstrel; Elks Sponsor The Program

Several members of the cast from the Rotary minstrel, which was given here early in the spring, entertained veterans at Outwood Hospital Sunday night under the sponsorship of the local Elks Lodge. Billie T. Gresham, committee chairman, said.

Directed by Harry Long, the group entertained in two wards and in the recreational hall at the hospital. Candy, cigarettes and chewing gum were provided for each patient and a recording of the program in the recreation hall was made for other patients who could not be visited by the group.

To Represent Kentucky

Miss Catherine Hopper will carry an invitation to representatives of every state in the union to visit Princeton and Kentucky Lake when she goes to Girls Nation in Washington, D. C., next Thursday as one of two representatives chosen to represent Kentucky at the national meeting.

Souvenirs provided by the local American Legion Post are miniature fishing poles and lines bearing the quotation, "Comments from Princeton, Kentucky, gateway to Kentucky Lake." Miss Hopper will also advertise Kentucky with pictorial folders depicting the tourist, agricultural, industrial, and other attractions of the state, provided by the State Highway Department.

Miss Hopper will meet the other representative from Ashland for the trip to Washington and a week's stay in the nation's capital where the girls will be drilled in the fundamentals of the national government. National officers will be elected and appointed to perform the duties of the various organizations of the government in the Girls Nation.

The Girls State and Girls Nation are organizations sponsored by American Legion Auxiliaries with expenses for the national meeting paid by the National Auxiliary, Mrs. Alvin Lisanby said.

Highway Garage Site Bought On Young Street

A three-acre tract of land facing Young street and extending north has been purchased by the State Highway Department as a site for a new highway garage, a highway official said this week.

A small building will be erected on the site in the near future but date for construction of the main building has not been released. The new garage will serve Caldwell, Trigg, Lyon and Crittenden counties, it was stated.

Traffic Light To Be Installed Soon

Highway Department To Place Light At Main And Harrison Intersection

Princeton will have its first stop-and-go traffic signal installed at the corner of West Main and Harrison streets in the near future, Mayor Clifton Hollowell said this week.

State Highway officials are co-operating with city officials in working out a satisfactory traffic control program for the town. Mayor Hollowell said. The subject of traffic lights has been of increasingly great interest in the past few years as traffic on the city's streets has increased to such an extent that the problem has become critical.

Current and previous city administrations have attempted to secure traffic lights in the city but all main intersections are on state-maintained streets and are governed by state authority. State officials checked traffic at the Main and Harrison street intersection on a Friday and Saturday several weeks past and counted more than 600 vehicles and 300 pedestrians per hour passing the intersection.

Highway officials have expressed the opinion that the traffic light at the intersection on Main will slow traffic sufficiently to control the problems in the downtown area and if not, further arrangements will be made later, Mayor Hollowell said.

Caution lights have been installed by the state at Cadiz and Hopkinsville street intersection and on the sharp curve entering Princeton on Cadiz street just outside the city limits. The traffic signal downtown will be installed by the highway department.

INTER-CLUB GOLF MEET

Golfers of the Princeton Country Club will meet those of Fort Campbell, located near Hopkinsville, in an inter-club match at Fort Campbell Sunday, it is announced.

Annual Field Day At Sub-Station To Be Held In August

Region To Be Divided Into Two Sections To Handle The Crowds Expected For Event

Several thousand farmers from several sections of the state are expected to attend the annual field-day meeting, which has been set for August 10-11 at the Western Kentucky Experiment Station here, according to Station Superintendent S. J. Lowry.

Mr. Lowry has invited all "farmers and interested persons to see and hear about experimental work under way to promote better agriculture for western Kentucky."

The region has been divided into two sections to handle the crowds. The first-day meetings will be for visitors from Ballard, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle, Crittenden, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Livingston, Lyon, McCracken, Marshall and Trigg counties.

The second day will be for farmers and others from Butler, Christian, Daviess, Hancock, Henderson, Hopkins, Logan, McLean, Muhlenberg, Ohio, Simpson, Union, Todd, Warren and Webster counties.

Visitors each day will have an opportunity to inspect dairy and beef cattle in feeding and pasture experiments, poultry flocks, and other items of interest on the experimental farm. Guides familiar with the work will conduct various groups on tours.

Dr. M. E. Weeks will speak to the groups at 1 p. m. each day. Dr. Weeks is head of the agronomy department of the college of agriculture and home economics, university of Kentucky.

Local Golfer Captures Elks National Crown

Willard Moore, one of Princeton's top amateur golfers, returned here last Thursday from the Elks' national convention at Miami, Florida, with the organization's national golf crown.

Moore won the annual 18-hole medal play tournament at the Miami Country Club course. He carded a 1-over-par 73 to win the championship and the big trophy that goes with the title. Mr. Moore was accompanied by Merle Brown, veteran Princeton golfer.

At the convention, Joseph B. Kyle of Gary, Ind., was elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. A public relations counselor and civic leader, he is one of the group who developed northern Indiana's famed Calumet industrial region. He is a native of Duncanville, Pa., and a graduate of Valparaiso University. Mr. Kyle succeeds Emmett T. Anderson of Tacoma, Washington.

Local Firemen Being Instructed This Week

Capt. V. A. Beam, coordinator of fireman training in Kentucky, started classes with volunteer firemen of the city Monday night and will continue classes each afternoon and night this week; Chief Gordon Glenn announced.

Capt. Beam will instruct local firemen in the most modern fire fighting methods as a part of the program inaugurated here in securing reduced fire insurance rates, Chief Glenn said.

Miss Oliver Named Assistant Home Agent

Miss Barbara Oliver has been named assistant home demonstration agent of Caldwell county and will assume her duties here July 31, Miss Wilma Vandiver, home demonstration agent, announced.

Miss Oliver will be graduated from Western State college, Bowling Green, on July 28 with a degree in home economics.

Millard Maxey, a native of Fleming county, recently assumed his duties as assistant to R. A. Mabry, county agent.

Exhibition Golf Match Scheduled For July 27

Miss Myrtle Weldon, state leader of home demonstration agents, helped the citizenship officers.

Miss Zella Monroe and Miss Alda Henning, assistant state leader, worked with the publicity and membership groups. Mrs. Mary Morse, home agent of Webster county, advised the reading chairman.

Mrs. Alvin Lisanby, district chairman of publicity, presided at the publicity meeting. Other chairman from Caldwell county who attended this meeting were Mrs. J. A. Hemingway, membership; Mrs. Lester Paris, publicity; Mrs. Opal Rice, reading; Miss Robbie Sims, publicity, and Home Agent Wilma Vandiver.

to come out to church and Sunday School more often. You may not need the church but it needs you. Those we don't send cards to are especially invited to come out and worship with us. Brother Terril is doing a grand job with the church but he needs the support of all its members. Please come next Sunday at 10 o'clock and evening at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Jack Rodman has resigned her position as secretary in the Sunday School. Mrs. Bill Robinson was appointed to take over. Mr. Urey Cook as teacher for the Young People is doing a grand job, as is Mr. Tilford Ladd for the adult class.

Mrs. Hugh Nichols as usual has the beginners and one one can fill her place there. She has always taught the little folks for as long as I can remember. Mrs. Priddy is just naturally the one for them. As is Mr. Hugh Nichols for Superintendent. They are the two "Pillars" of Lebanon Church and what are we going to do when they are gone? I guess the Lord will provide us a leader, but I think he needs a little help.

The Old Church is getting a new face lifting before the Revival which will be in September, a new paint job inside and out. We need a new building gut because of financial conditions that's out. So with the new painting and cleaning, let us hope that the cleaning will reach the hearts of our members and cause them

BARGAIN AND BUST
New York — (AP) — Each summer finds bargains and busts at the Saratoga yearling sales. In 1948 Mrs. Elizabeth N. Gresham paid $26,000 for a colt she later found well named. She called him Big Mistake and at three he's still a maiden. From the same sale, Tom Gray of Tulsa bought one yearling for $15,000. It was Oil Capitol, winner of $100,956 last season.

Horatio Alger abandoned the ministry to write, but died poor because he gave away to street boys he befriended most of his money.

Church Monday night, July 24. Rev. T. T. Crabtree will assist with services. Everyone is invited to attend.

Weeds In Pasture Should Be Killed Early Farmer

By OLIVER C. ALLEN
(Soil Conservation)
When should pasture be mowed?

"I always plan to mow before the weeds are and the little stuff," said Porter, supervisor of the Caldwell Soil Conservation District. "It helps eliminate the pasture plants and the livestock and stand of desirable plants serve the soil." "My pasture is to have a good land clipped before the weeds get in."

Weeds In Pasture Should Be Clipped Early Farmer Says

By OLIVER C. ALLCOCK
(Soil Conservation Service)
When should pasture be clipped?
I always plan to clip my pastures before the weed seeds mature and the little bushes get high," said Porter M. Sell, supervisor of the Caldwell County Soil Conservation District. "This will help eliminate weeds, make the pasture plants more tender for the livestock and thicken the stand of desirable plants to conserve the soil." "My plan, he continued, "is to have all my pastures land clipped before July 15."

The fescue and ladino clover pasture which has already been clipped will not be pastured until late fall or winter. By keeping the livestock off this pasture this summer, it will have a good growth for the livestock this fall and winter," Mr. Sell added.

Good Pasture Cuts Chicken Feed Cost

Pastures are a cheap source of feed for poultry during the growing period of the flock, according to the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. During that time, a saving up to 20 per cent of the feed costs can be made.

Bluegrass, white clover and bluegrass, alfalfa or Ladino clover are among the most satisfactory pastures for poultry. Proper fertilization and management will increase both quantity and quality. As young tender grass has the most value, it should be clipped when the birds can no longer keep it relatively short. Brown mature grass is unappetizing and is low in nutritive value.

Although an acre of good pasture will carry about 300 birds, it is safer to count on only about 200, says the station.

pasture which has already been clipped will not be pastured until late fall or winter. By keeping the livestock off this pasture this summer, it will have a good growth for the livestock this fall and winter," Mr. Sell added.

FARM NEWS

Field Roost Is Good For The Late Turkeys

Some turkey raisers build roosts in fields and put poults on them directly from brooder houses. J. E. Humphrey of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, says this usually can be done when poults are taken out in midsummer.

Because of foxes and other wild animals it is well to have a fence around the roosting place. Poultry fencing 5 feet high, 2-inch mesh and steel posts are usually used.

Growers who raise a large number of turkeys often employ guards, flares and dogs for further protection. Flares keep off hawks, crows and owls, which often cause losses among turkeys. Some raisers stretch wire across the top of the yard, with pieces of rag attached.

An electric alarm to awaken the caretaker may prove worth while. To identify stolen turkeys, tattoo marks can be made in the web of the wing.

WORKSHOP PLANNED

Plans have been made for a two day Resource Conservation Workshop for the teachers of Princeton and Caldwell county on August 28-29, it was announced by Clifton Clift, superintendent of Caldwell county schools, this week.

The workshop will be made possible through the cooperation of the Princeton and Caldwell county school officials and teachers, the agricultural representatives in the county, the county health department and the local soil conservation district supervisors.

Also assisting in the workshop will be Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, Kentucky Department of Conservation Education, and Collis O. Johnson of Murray State College.

MAPS RECEIVED

Land capability maps have been received at the local soil conservation district office for the farms of William D. Fuller of the Friendship community, C. R. Overby of the Pleasant Grove community, Thomas Merrick of the Bethany community, Ollie E. Rogers of the Farmersville community, Floyd Dunbar of the Crider community, Virgil Booker and Orbie Tosh of the Flat Rock community.

County Agent's Column

By R. A. Mabry

Roy Traylor, Quinn community, and member of the Farm and Home Development group, has an excellent field of spring seeded red clover.

E. W. Lamb, Cobb community, and member of the same group, cleared a field of bushes and planted to corn around the slope after fertilizing with 200 pounds of 62 per cent phosphate and 100 pounds of 6-8-6 in the row. Although reasonable precautions to prevent erosion, heavy rains have caused a loss of a large amount of top soil. Mr. Lamb says the field is to go into permanent pastures of ladino clover and fescue after this corn crop.

Bob McClanshan, artificial breeding technician, reports having bred 655 cows owned by members of the local artificial breeding association from Aug. 1, 1949, through June, 1950.

K. B. Jacob, Ellis Jones, J. A. Hemingway and Carl Sparks recently purchased 260 head of breeding ewes. Jacob, 85 head; Ellis Jones an additional 30 head; Hemingway, 60 head, and Carl Sparks 85 head.

The outlook for sheep is good for the next seven or eight years, due to the reduced number of breeding ewes in the U. S. now causing a greater demand than the supply available.

Two P.M.A. committeemen have been trained to take soil samples for testing in the P.M.A. soil testing program. Farmers interested in having their soils tested through this program should put in their application through the local P.M.A. office.

Fields you wish to treat this fall should be sampled soon to have the test results in plenty of time to buy proper fertilizers as it takes several days to get the samples and get test results back to the farmer.

Samples may still be taken by individual farmers for testing outside of the P.M.A. Program.

4-H Camp Activities At Murray Outlined

Program for the 4-H Camp, to be held on the Murray College Campus July 31 through August 4, has been released from the extension office by Assistant County Agent Millard R. Maxey. The morning classes, which will be held from 8:45 a. m. to 11:00 a. m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to photography, first aid, soil sampling, handicraft, music, forestry home economics judging, fitting animals for show, and home lighting.

Each class period will be 40 minutes in duration and each club member may choose the community.

CONSTRUCT PONDS

Garland Hart of the Cobb community and Ferd Wadlington and grandson, Lester, of the Otter Pond community have constructed ponds for livestock water on their farms this week.

This is a part of Mr. Wadlington's and Mr. Hart's soil conservation farm plans.

The SCS technician assisted in staking out the ponds.

Ky. Farm News

In Barren county, Ladino clover was the outstanding feature of each of 19 farms visited in the green pasture program.

Fifty-seven slipcovered stools, slipper chairs and living room chairs were exhibited by Carlisle county homemakers at a silver tea.

Low bottomland fields of Ladino clover in Hancock county, which were considered destroyed by unfavorable spring weather, have made excellent pastures.

Due to growing Vigo wheat, Hickman county farmers reported one of the best crops in several years.

Several farmers in Estill county had excellent cover crops on overflow bottomland.

Breckinridge county farmers reported that Ladino clover gave excellent pastures this spring.

Mrs. Ray Gregory of Bath county has remodeled her kitchen, installing a dish-washer along with other electrical equipment.

With a start of two grade heifers and a registered bull 18 years ago, W. J. Foster of Daviess county developed an Angus herd of 500 head.

Mrs. Elmer Christman, a homemaker club leader in Fleming county, has wired two kerosene lamps, made seven lamp shades and is hooking a rug.

Frank Wheeler of Harlan county has set out a half acre with 2,000 Blackmore strawberry plants.

W. B. Early, Jr., of Whitley county bought a power sprayer outfit for using 2,4-D on pastures, the first such outfit in the county.

W. C. Mitchell of Taylor county saved 25 per cent of his pigs when he provided heat with an electric bulb hung in a corner of the farrowing house.

Certified seed of Vigo and Pawnee wheat increased yields of that crop in Taylor county by 10 to 20 bushels over common varieties.

Caldwell County Wheat Loan Rates Is $2.14

Loans are available on the 1950 wheat crop from the time of harvest through January 31, 1951, W. S. Traylor, local PMA chairman, announced.

Wheat grading on U. S. No. 1 is $2.14. Discounts will be made for other grades, and for garlic and smut. Commodity Credit Corporation will assume secured warehouse charges on wheat which is not redeemed by the producer, it was stated.

A. P. Day, Princeton Warehousing Company, will store government loan wheat for eligible farmers, give weight certificates which will be turned into the PMA office to Mrs. Lillian Pruett, chief clerk, for the loan. Loans will mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1951, Traylor said.

subject in which he is most interested.

On Monday night there will be an opportunity to meet new friends at the "get acquainted" program. Then there will be a treasure hunt on Tuesday night, followed by a circus on Wednesday night. A candle lighting program will conclude activities, on Thursday night.

In the afternoon, there will be swimming, tennis, volley ball, folk games and casting.

All 4-H club members who wish to attend camp are requested to contact the extension office or return the cards that have been sent out.

THE GARDEN

LATE POTATOES, II

Planting late potatoes differs in several ways from that of the spring crop. In the spring the ground is moist and cool, as potatoes like; in midsummer, rain is relatively scarce and soil temperatures are high. Thus, for the late crop, soil management must have been such as to store moisture enough to make the crop, and in order to use it to the best advantage summer-crop potatoes must be planted deeper than in the spring. Deep planting is required, too, for coolness's sake, to guard against seed-piece rotting, or "cooking." Seed furrows should be laid off 5 inches deep.

Another difference is in the handling of the seed. In dry soil, seed-piece moisture is sucked out, sometimes considerably weakening the sprout. Accordingly, the seed potatoes are cut at least 48 hours in advance of planting, so they may make a false skin to seal in the moisture. The method is to cut the seed, the pieces somewhat larger than for spring planting, 2 ounces or so; put them in bulks no larger than 30 pounds, in half-full baskets covered loosely with tarpaulin so that some air may play about them, but not enough to dry them out. The cut seed so cured may then be treated in Semesan Bel with no harm.

Another way is to treat the potatoes first, then cut and cure them.

In the 5-inch seed furrow, the fertilizer (4-12-8, 3-9-6) should be sown at the rate of one pound to 25 feet, this stirred into the soil by dragging with a piece of chain or the end of a hoe handle. Then the seed is dropped, 15 to 18 inches apart (wider than in the spring), and covered about 2 inches, and when the tops of the sprouts are above garden level, the furrow is filled.

At this time of year, two severe potato insects are active, fleabeetles and leafhoppers. For both, DDT is the control, and the first dusting, with 5 per cent DDT or DDT, should be given when the sprouts show. Two more should be given when the sprouts show.

Two more should be given, 10 days apart.

Another late-potato hazard is blight, usually coming about blooming time. The control is to cover the plants with copper armor, preferably in wet spray. However, 6 per cent ready-mixed copper dust may be used, and rather than wait until blight sign is seen, a combination dust of 6 per cent copper and 3 per cent DDT, found almost anywhere, may be used in the same program as just outlined for DDT alone; but give an additional dusting, making four in all. This is not full protection, but a good compromise.

The experts say it is possible for a hen to lay two eggs in the same day, although she generally lays only one.

Test For "Parents Quotient" Listed
By David Taylor Marke
We've heard much about "I.Q." tests for children through which attempts are made to measure the intelligence of children and their ability to do certain school work. Now, along comes Dr. Mary G. Ascher, Administrative Assistant and Coordinator of Guidance on the staff of the William Howard Taft High School, in the Bronx, N.Y.C., with a "P.Q." test for parents. Through it a parent can find out just how high a "Parent Quotient" she establishes.

For those of you who would like to test yourselves, we list the questions below. Five points are scored for each "Yes" answer and one point deducted for each "No" answer. A parent scoring 86 or more is regarded as doing an excellent job in assisting in the guidance of her child. Ask yourself:

1. Do I see to it that my child gets enough sleep, and rises early enough to consume a wholesome, substantial breakfast?
2. Do I see to it that my child looks clean and attractive before he leaves for school?
3. Do I furnish my child not only with an allowance, but an understanding of budget planning?
4. Do I refrain from making unfortunate comparisons between one child and another in the family or between my child and someone else's which makes my child or one of them appear stupid or inferior by comparison?
5. Do I discuss with my child the ways in which his scholarship may be improved?
6. Do I check carefully the record of absence and lateness on the report card, and if the record shows absence and lateness of which I am unaware, do I make an appointment with the counselor to investigate the discrepancy?
7. Do I mail immediately to the school, with an explanation, the postal card that I receive when my child is absent from school?
8. Do I realize that absence from class is the chief cause of failure?
9. Do I read (or write) and personally sign all notes of excuse that my child takes to school?
10. Do I prohibit my child from attending theatres or other late forms of amusement from Monday through Thursday?
11. Do I limit the time my child gives to listening to the radio or seeing television?
12. Do I ask my child to show me his test papers and compositions and discuss the marks with him?
13. Do I know the extra-curricular activity program of the school and encourage my child to join at least one activity?
14. Do I cooperate with the school in the correction of physical and emotional shortcomings that may handicap my child in later life?
15. Do I take an interest in the Parents Association and attend meetings?
16. Do I help my child to work out a daily or weekly schedule, allotting time for study and home duties?

Outnumbered Army Has Small Chance Of Being Victor

Washington — Armies in the past have been more badly outnumbered than are the U. S. forces now fighting in Korea and still have won the victory.

Yet when you look back over some of the campaigns and battles of history, you find that an army fighting against superior numbers has only about one chance in ten of being the victor.

Maj. Robert B. Riggs, of the Army General Staff Corps, makes this estimate in an article in the current issue of "Military Review", published by the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

Major Riggs' purpose, however, was to study the battles in which victory went to the smaller army.

THE CASHING IN

New York — (AP) — Willie Boland, rider of Middleground, has a fair start on that ranch he hopes to purchase. During a recent week stretch he rode winners of $227,725 in five stakes. Included were victories astride Middleground in the Derby and Belmont. A jockey usually gets 10 per cent of the purse in stake races.

Few as they were, many were important. Four of them were among the 15 decisive battles of the world, as listed by the military historian, Sir Edward S. Creasy.

Major Riggs' analysis indicated to him that victory in practically all battles, from Marathon to the campaigns of World War II, has depended primarily on the human factor: That is, the leaders' generalship and tactical skill and the troops' discipline, training, morale, bravery and determination. This has been true, he said, whether the fighting was done with swords and spears or with rockets in the newest jet planes.

The development of modern weapons, said Riggs, has given new yardsticks for measuring the comparative strength of opposing forces. The sheer weight of numbers is less significant than in the past; fire power, air power and speed in maneuver are what count, rather than the number of men on the front line. Still, however, large numbers of supporting troops and factory workers are needed to put the new weapons and vehicles in action. And if the human factor is not favorable, it can nullify the effect of superior mechanical equipment. "Generally, you cannot count on completely beating more than about 2½ times your own number, except that today a new set of numerical values must replace the old," Riggs wrote.

In reviewing historical facts, Riggs recalled, "England's position in history shows that smaller nations often defeat larger ones or combinations thereof. Britain's population was outnumbered in 1588 when she conquered Spain, and again in 1702 against the French, Spanish and Bavarians, in the Seven Years' War, and in 1800."

Among the battles he cited were: Marathon, 490 B.C., in which the Greeks, outnumbered nine to one, defeated the Persians through their discipline and tactical skill. Gaugamela, 331 B.C. Darius the Persian in Iraq outnumbered Alexander of Macedon by eight to one. Darius used almost modern blitzkrieg methods, driving branches into the Macedonian line with columns of elephants, scythed-wheeled chariots and cavalry. But Alexander's tactical skill kept his few men fighting at the right places at the right time. And Darius fled from the field.

Tannenberg: 1914. General Von Hindenburg, with less than 250,000 German troops, gained a classic victory over two Russian armies, comprising almost 500,000 men. They were commanded by Generals Rennenkamp and Samsonof. This is Riggs' description of the battle:

"Throwing out a cavalry division to contain the First Russian Army, Hindenburg turned his back and attacked Samsonof. Hindenburg ran great risk of being trapped, but he let Samsonof's Slavs through his center and then closed his own trap on the Russians, who were stumbling about in the forest. Some 60,000 Russians died on the battlefield, and 100,000 others were taken prisoner.

"With Napoleonic ease, Hindenburg then about-faced his thousands and took on Rennenkamp's Cossacks and infantry. Here again, German arms prevailed. Another batch of Russian prisoners (60,000) were marched away 'for the duration.'"

Hunting Season Opens September 1

The dove hunting season for Kentucky has been announced by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Kentucky Division of Game and Fish as the same as for last year, the dates being September 1 through September 30. Recommendations offered by the Fish and Wildlife Service were approved by Earl Wallace, director of the Division of Game and Fish. Daily bag limits again will be 10 with the possession limit also 10. The hunting hours will be from 12 o'clock noon to sunset.

The open season and bag limits for waterfowl have not yet been determined by the Department of Interior due to the late nesting season of ducks and geese. The shooting period for rails and gallinules is September 1 through October 30 with a bag and possession limit of 15 and a bag and possession limit of 25 for sora. Shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset.

The dove hunting regulations point out that this species may not be taken directly or indirectly by means, aid or use of shelled, shucked or unshucked corn, or of wheat, salt or other feed that has been deposited, distributed or scattered so as to constitute for such birds a lure, attraction or enticement to, on or over areas where the hunters are attempting to take them. However, the regulations continue, such birds may be taken over properly shocked corn or standing crops of corn, wheat or other grain or feed, and grains found scattered solely as a result of agricultural harvesting. Kentucky nimrods may take to the fields on August 20 this year in quest of the wily squirrel, the Division and the Kentucky Game and Fish Commission have decided. The season for this year will be the same as for 1940, opening on August 20 and extending through November 5. The bag limit also remains unchanged with the daily limit being six and possession limit 12.

The Commission also has fixed other dates for hunting this season and with the exception of the grouse or native pheasant they remain the same as for the preceding year. The grouse season has been extended 10 days, with the season opening on November 20 and extending through December 15. The daily bag limit will remain two with possession limit at four and a season limit of 10.

Other hunting seasons as announced by the Commission follows: Quail and rabbit, November 20 through January 10; possums, coons, mink, skunk, muskrats and red foxes may be taken with traps, guns and snares either 1 through January 10. Either a county or a hunting license is required, while the trapper has a trapping license.

Two National Forests — Steve Van Buren, Philadelphia and Tony of Green Bay — gained 1,000 yards in 1940.

Poison Ivy Is Threat To Summer Outdoor Pleasure

By Dr. W. L. Cash

Communism with nature is a pleasant pastime, but certain precautions must be observed if it is to be a healthful one as well. Many a hiker or camper has learned to his sorrow to beware of the three-leaved plant—poison ivy, but it is much better to learn from someone else's experience than one's own.

Poison ivy grows both as a vine and a small bush. Its foliage is dark green except in the fall when it takes on a reddish tinge. It is the only plant which always has three leaves on each stem. However, if a person has any doubt as to whether or not a particular plant is poison ivy, it is better to play safe and leave it alone.

While poison ivy is the most common offender in this part of the country, poison oak and poison sumac also occur in Kentucky. By learning to identify and avoid these plants, adults and children may save themselves much discomfort.

Poisoning results from contact with the plant's sap. This causes a skin condition which is characterized by burning and itching, followed by a rash and swelling. The rash may develop into blisters which, in turn, may become infected. Poisoning becomes apparent from 24 hours to seven

Ironing Made Easier By Use Of Lap Table

No more back-breaking hours of standing while she does her weekly ironing, says Mrs. LaVerne Bucky of Breckinridge county. Instead, she sits at a portable lap table and uses equipment which she learned about in her homemakers club.

The table on castors was made 26 inches high to pull over her lap as she sits to work. It is covered with asbestos cement board for protection, then with a quilted pad and cover. To leave more free ironing surface, a stand for the iron is attached at one end of the table. A bushel basket painted white and lined with oilcloth serves as the clothes basket. Mrs. Bucky sets it on a stool beside her when she irons, and so avoids stooping for each piece.

Other helpful equipment which she uses includes a vegetable brush for sprinkling clothes evenly, a cellulose sponge for dampening, and hangers and a folding rack for the ironed clothes.

While Mrs. Bucky uses the usual ironing board for some garments, days after contact, and occurs most often in the spring and summer when the sap is abundant.

Since sap escapes upon the slightest crushing of leaves, stalks or roots, the greatest care should be exercised. Poisoning can also result from contact with contaminated objects, such as trowels and gardening gloves. Even inhalation of smoke produced by burning the plant may cause a case of poisoning, as the oily sap escapes on the soot rising from burning branches.

Should exposure occur, scrub the skin thoroughly but gently with plenty of strong, soapy lather, rinsing it with clear water. In all cases it is best to consult the family physician.

The earliest known printing about America is the Columbus Letter, printed in 1493, a two-leaf news sheet announcing the discovery of the islands of the Indies to the Spanish court.

The largest business firm in this country in the early 1800s was the American Fur Company, founded by John Jacob Astor.

The greater portion of the weekly washing can be ironed on the lap table while she sits, she said.

New Atomic Plant Is Ready To Work

By Howard W. Blakeslee

Upton, N. Y. — Enlarge an airplane cockpit and its controls about six times and you have a good likeness of the controls of the newest atomic reactor.

Add a copilot for the atomic controls — his job to double-check.

This reactor, here at the Brookhaven National Laboratory, is America's first large post-war atomic pile. It may start operating this year. The reactor is hidden inside a big six-story, warehouse-type structure, with peculiar windows. They are massed in a few places, leaving most of the outer walls solid and bare.

The controls are on a console, as large as the console of the greatest pipe organ, and on an instrument panel covering the wall as high as a man can reach and much wider than the console.

You will start this atomic monster with two fingers. They turn a dial like that on a radio and television set. This turn will move some long, boron-steel rods, which stick into the square reactor hidden behind massive walls in front of you. The rods are like hatpins that have been pushed full length into a hat.

The electronic dial will cause them to pull slowly out of the reactor. That will start the atomic fire.

The radioactivity will rise to intensities that would be fearful except for the protective walls. In a few minutes the pile will be equal to hundreds of tons of radium.

Simultaneously heat will rise, equivalent to the heat of a ten thousand kilowatt power station. But this reactor is for scientific experiments only.

This atomic console plays soundless music. Neither the radioactivity nor the heat makes the slightest noise. There are no moving parts. You can hear a whisper, or a pin drop. The first sound will occur when the remote control fans turn on to drive the heat out of the reactor and up a chimney 300 feet tall.

The reactor has a safety valve. This comprises two handles set on the wall. They are not electronic. They can be moved by human hands. They will dump a load of shot down a hole into the middle of the reactor.

This is no ordinary shot. It is boron-steel and the boron absorbs neutrons, atomic sparks which make the atomic heat chain re-

Cpl. James C. Ladd returned last Thursday to the Air Force Base in Shepherd's Field, Wichita Falls, Texas, after a two week visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Collin Ladd.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Redd spent a few days with relatives at Confederate, Kentucky.

Mrs. Richard Bell left last Wednesday for an extended visit with her husband in Cleveland, Ohio.

Twelve members of the Otter Pond Homemakers club attended the county-wide meeting at Fredonia Tuesday.

We welcome the new member to our midst of Rev. George Priddy and Mrs. Priddy, William Gordon, born Saturday, July 1, at Princeton hospital.

The first Colonial American author was Capt. John Smith, who in 1608 wrote "True Relation," the account of the Jamestown settlement.

The boron shot quenches the neutrons like water on a fire and just as fast.

The handles are named "scram control," meaning the sort of danger that makes you want to run. This reactor cannot possibly explode, but it can melt, and that would cost millions of dollars, plus a risk of radioactive contamination at the site.

What makes a railroad?

the savings of people like you

If you own a savings account or life insurance policy, your mirror will show you the kind of person who built and owns the Illinois Central.

Savings like yours have paid for rails, ties, locomotives, box cars, everything on the Illinois Central. Sometimes the people like you bought railroad stocks and bonds; sometimes the money was invested by banks, insurance companies or other institutions.

That's why your kind of people are the railroad. For you furnish the tools with which railroad workers earn a living. You choose the management that makes the railroad an efficient, independent public servant.

People like you have put something like three-fourths of a billion dollars of savings into the Illinois Central. This investment provides the property that enables us to earn the continued friendship and patronage of all who live along our lines.

Four Top Pitchers Rate Musial As The No. 1 Hitter

New York — There is very little doubt about Stan Musial being the most feared hitter in the National League. But now we have it right from the horse's mouth.

Of seven top pitchers questioned on the subject of hitting, four of them say Musial is the toughest batter to get out in the league. Another recalls Musial getting seven straight hits against his pitching. The other two questioned couldn't possibly rate Stan on actual performances because they are Harry Brecheen and Howie Pollet, his St. Louis Cardinal southpaw teammates.

Musial's lifetime average for eight campaigns is .346. Warren Spahn, Don Newcombe, Russ Meyer and Ken Raffensberger all say Musial is harder to retire than any other batter.

"Musial has no definite weakness," says Spahn, ace Brave left hander. "Stan is the kind of a guy who makes up his mind to swing and swings. He has hit bad pitches against me but sometimes he even hits the bad pitches for home runs, which is something few fellows in baseball do today."

Here's what Newcombe says: "You never get Stan set up against you. You can't pitch to a particular spot. Hold him to a single and you're doing good."

"You can't fool Musial consistently. You can get Stan once but not the second time. He has good eyes and refuses to go for the bad pitch."

Raffensberger's feelings about Musial's hitting are similar. Here's what Cincinnati's southpaw says:

"Musial has no weakness, that's for sure. I used to have a set way to pitch against him but he's not going after my pitch any longer."

Roberts, leader of the Phillies' staff of Whiz Kids, voted Hank Sauer of the Cubs as the toughest hitter against his pitching. "However, Stan hit me seven for seven during a spell last season. He hits me solid even when I put a lot of stuff on the ball."

Pollet thinks Ralph Kiner is about the toughest hitter and Brecheen lists such right handed swingers as Carl Furillo, Jack Robinson, Sid Gordon, Bob El Hott and Walker Cooper right around the top.

Of eight American League pitchers questioned, two thought Tommy Henrich, Old Reliable of the Yankees, was top man. The rest of the pitchers each had a different man—Ted Williams, Vern Stephens, Bobby Doerr, George Kell, Dale Mitchell and Pete Suder.

However, five pitchers appropriately enough mentioned Williams as being among the roughest. Four others thought Joe Di Maggio and Doerr should be listed among the rough customers.

But Mel Parnell and Bob Lemon, the two best American League pitchers last season, both gave the nod to Henrich.

"Henrich is always tough," says Lefty Parnell. "He's more of a

Card Of Thanks

Through this little verse I am trying to say,
A thousand thanks to you folks, if I may,

For visits, for cards, and flowers so sweet;
For books, for candy most too good to eat,

Now here is a secret, this isn't too bad,
The nurses are pretty, and never get mad.
The beds are real soft, the food is so good.

I appreciate all, as anyone should.
With a little more time, and a Banker who's kind,
And just a few more words that know how to rhyme,

I will be back home, most as good as new
With a heart full of thanks for each of you.

First telecast of a political convention was the Republican assembly in Philadelphia in June, 1940.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors who were so kind and good to us during the recent death of our son, Presley. We want to thank each and everyone from the bottom of our hearts.

Especially do we thank Bro Calender, Mrs. Bernice Davis and each singer for the sweet message in song. Also the Morgans for their service, Gus Towery and Anna Belle Amoss, who helped to arrange the many and beautiful flowers, the flower girls, pallbearers, and the Eagles who were honorary pallbearers. May God bless each and everyone of you, is our prayer.

Wes and Lorene Fraley 3-1tc
